

Beth Sholom Congregation and Talmud Torah Website Terms and Privacy Policy

Use of the Beth Sholom Congregation and Talmud Torah (BSCTT) website (this website) is subject to the following terms, conditions and policies (the terms.) Access of this site implies acceptance of the terms.

This website was established for the dissemination of information regarding BSCTT, Potomac, Maryland.

This website resides on the BSCTT server. † Users are subject to the terms and policies of BSCTT.

The operators of this website may record visitor information. How that information is used cannot currently be determined.

Electronic mail sent through this website is routed through the BSCTT server. Beth Sholom cannot determine what information is gathered from such transmissions or how it is used.

Entries made in this website's guestbook are by definition publicly viewable. The managers of this site reserve the right to edit the content of this guestbook at their discretion.

The contents of this website are the copyright of BSCTT, all rights reserved. This website also makes use of certain content that is licensed from other parties.

Before using any of our content or graphics for your sites, documents or publications, you must secure written permission from BSCTT. Graphics derived from Microsoft, Macromedia and/or Adobe are subject to their terms of use.

The services of this site are provided on an "as-is" basis, with no warranty expressed or implied. Access this site at your own risk.

Access of this site for the purpose of disruption of service for the BSCTT website is not authorized and will be prosecutable. Such access includes but is not limited to so-called "denial of service" attacks, posting of unauthorized commercial messages, unauthorized attempts to alter the content of the site or making of offensive entries in the website's guestbook.

Thank you.